"After a voyage, he hath strange places cramm'd With observation, the which he vents In mangled forms."

"Ruth Elder Has Flu."—Headline. The copy desk certainly is getting careless—Ruth Elder Has Flu.

Amundsen, we note, also has flew. He's likely to take offense at the North Pole some day and leave it flat.

Why not punish Admiral Magruder by sentencing him to six months in an Army barracks?

The Admiral is coming, so to speak, Saturday Evening Posthaste to Washington. He's had his day—now Wilbur is going to celebrate Navy Day.

Magruder appeals over the head of the Secretary of the Navy to the President, an error of judgment which indicates, we fear, that as a naval officer he is a better short story writer than he is a tactician.

"All, soon or late, are doom'd that path to tread,"

—So Homer, in the Odyssey, once said.

With Walter Johnson in the minors we are going to do our baseballing hereafter at Newark.

President Coolidge issues the customary Thanksgiving proclamation in ample time for all the football schedules to be arranged. Like the historic two-term tradition which he also holds in reverence, there is no law about Thanksgiving Day—it's just a "time-honored sacred custom."

Mr. Curtis is Chairman of Rules, sits in on Finance, Appropriations and Indian Affairs, is the Republican leader of the Senate, boss of the caucus, author of the restaurant menus, General Manager of the Subway Railroad, and Custodian of the Keys. He opens the Capitol every morning, and locks the front door when he gets through at night. Elect him and he'd be President, Vice President, Secretary of State, Commissioner of Fish and Fisheries, Chief of the Mailbag Repair Shop, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and Superintendent of the U. S. A. Talk about "Coolidge economy"—this man's a bargain!

Fourteen million bobbed-haired women have laid 350,000 tons of back hair on the altar of the beauty parlor, and the worst of it is that what started out as a mild fad is beginning to look like a permanent wave.

Mayor Bill Thompson is so broad-minded he may even decide to take a trip to England. Why not swap him for a while for Wickham Steed?

Senator Brookhart explains that the value of the lands owned by farmers has declined $20,000,000,000 since 1920. But think how decadently the walls of their houses are papered with the wildest stock they bought in that year.

Admiral Lowman, who seems to be weakening a bit, advises the W. C. T. U. to talk less of prohibition and more of temperance, but what have those two subjects got to do with each other?

Assistant Secretary MacNider's disclosure of the shocking state of unpreparedness in the Army ought to be good for a serial in any nickel magazine, but when is he going to be wilburized?

A train on the little narrow-gauge railway that runs up into the interior of Yugoslavia from Metkovich, on the Adriatic, is wrecked, and 260 are killed, when it plunges over a precipice between Sarajevo and the quaint little Moslem city of Mostar, but the dispatch is in error in saying that the road passes through a tunnel—we once counted 47.

Senator Borah explains how he stands on the McNary-Haugenism and the equalization fee—he favors producing Hamlet with the melancholy great Dane left out of the cast.

What the rest of the country can't understand is what difference does it make who Gov. McMullen of Nebraska favors for President.

What's delaying Mayor Thompson in enlisting George Sylvester Viereck as one of his redcoat snooters?

Prince Georges proposed new consolidated municipality would cost more than the annual revenue from taxes, so it would be a typical American city to start with.

Encouraged by Secretary Hoover's dictum that Mississippi floods must stop, it is understood that Mussolini is going to issue a ukase prohibiting Vasuvius from having any more eruptions.

Curtis and M seal Curtis and Mose! Now watch the Senate start counting noses!

MAGRUDER SUBMITS APPEAL TO COOLIDGE ON REMOVAL ORDER

Admiral Fights Wilbur's Edict Relieving Him From Command.

ACT NOT PUNITIVE, SECRETARY ASSERTS

Administrative Measure, He Says; Correspondence With Navy Critic Made Public.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, who has been detached from his command of the Fourth Naval District by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and ordered to report to him at Washington on or about November 5, today exercised his right of appeal and has requested President Coolidge to revoke the order.

The appeal was in the official form of a letter addressed to the President "via the Secretary of the Navy," by whom it is to be forwarded to the White House with the Secretary's recommendation. The letter also contained a request for a personal interview with the President.

The removal of the admiral from his present command was the result of the controversy over his article published in the Saturday Evening Post of September 24 on "The Navy and Economy," in which he criticized what he termed the "overorganization of the Navy" and the "continuance of uneconomical methods begun in war time."

Magruder Praises Latimer. Admiral Magruder, while confirming that he had made an appeal, refused to go into the details, saying that the letter set forth his reasons for asking for the revocation.

The admiral, who commands the Philadelphia Navy Yard, read with great interest the statement of Secretary Wilbur, "the order to Admiral Magruder is not punitive; it is administrative." It is understood that the admiral looks upon the order as punishment and could not understand why it was regarded at Washington as "administrative."

Admiral Magruder had a good word for Rear Admiral Julian L. Latimer, who is to relieve him November 1, if the order is not revoked. "He is a fine man and a good officer," he said, when he learned of the appointment.

Latimer to Take Post.

Relief of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder as commandant of the Philadelphia Navy Yard because of recent criticism of the Navy and from correspondence dealing with it, was described by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur

RACE BY ZEPPELINS AROUND WORLD SEEN

British and German Airships, Now Building, Slated for Contest, Is Belief.

New York, Oct. 26 (A.P.)—The New York Evening Post today says a race around the world between German and British Zeppelins looms as the high point of interest in next summer's aerial dramas.

The paper quotes Howard Mingo, a writer interested in aviation, as saying that two airships are under construction in England, each of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity, to be used on a mail and passenger service between England, Egypt and India. Mingo said that the Zeppelin Company in Germany is building its 127th ship which is to have a gas capacity of 3,500,000 cubic feet.

"I have just received word that the British and Germans will probably race their new ships on a flight around the world," Mingo continued. "The world night should require between 12 and 14 days."

Mrs. Hill Drops Suit; On Second Honeymoon

Livingston, Mont., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Walter J. Hill, Montana rancher and son of the late James J. Hill, rail magnate, departed for the Pacific Coast today on a second honeymoon with his wife, Mildred Richardson Hill, former Ziegfeld Follies beauty.

The Hills effected a reconciliation last Monday after Mrs. Hill had filed suit for separation. The case was dismissed today when the court files arrived from Butte.

SENATOR CURTIS SAYS HE WILL BE CANDIDATE

Had Been Urged to Run for President by Kansas Supporters.

ACTION IS HELD DELAYED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

President Coolidge's recent reprimand of Senator Fess, of Ohio, bore another development yesterday when Senator Curtis, of Kansas, and the Republican leader, threw his hat into the ring. Definitely concluding that the President is out of the race, the Kansas senator made it known that he was a serious candidate for President, not a "favorite son" or a stalking horse for anybody.

Beyond announcing his candidacy, though, he plans to sit tight with the delegation from his State, smile affably upon other candidates, pick up any scattered delegates that come his way and let political events take their course.

The senator had been considering such a move for some time. In his home State Curtis-for-President organizations have sprung up in every county. And some time ago, the secretary of the State Curtis organization, Roy L. Bone, wrote the senator urging him to sanction the movement. But the senator is understood to have had his doubts about the President's attitude.

However, the Fess incident removed them and Senator Curtis, once they had been removed, was quick to act. His letter to Mr. Bone, who is State banking commissioner, follows:

"I have your letter of recent date advising me of the action of my friends in Kansas in organizing a State-wide 'Curtis-for-President' Club, of the organization of similar clubs in various counties of the State, and of circulation of petitions asking me to allow my name to be used as a candidate for the Presidency.

"Kansas has honored me by electing me to office under every national administration since 1892, and the present proposal is a still more signal honor. Having served in the House and Senate

Family of Koennecke Worried Over Safety

Berlin, Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Otto Koennecke and Count George Frederick Solms-Laubach are worried over the absence of news as to the location of the fliers and their plane, the Germania, in which they set out for San Francisco via the Orient.

Nothing has been heard from the fliers since the plane crashed at Bender Abbas injuring Count Solms and making his return to Germany necessary except a letter from the count written before the Germania left Bagdad for Bender Abbas. Even the German Foreign Office has not received word as to whether the Germania was returned to Bagdad.

14,000,000 Bobbed Heads In U. S. Editor Declares

350,000 Tons of Hair Have Been Shorn From Women, Miss Lane Tells Advertising Agents—Nation's Beauty Bill $1,825,000,000 a Year.

Three thousand, four hundred tons of hair have been shorn from the heads of women since the bobbed hair fad started, Miss Gertrude B. Lane, editor of the Woman's Home Companion Magazine, declared at the convention of the American Association of Advertising Agencies yesterday.

Miss Lane said that there are now 14,000,000 bobbed heads in the United States.

Her talk, entitled "How Much Have Women Really Changed in the Last Ten Years?" centered about two points: first, that women have become better cooks by reason of their study of nutrition; second, that they have chased old age through the exit by reason of their pursuit of beauty.

It is estimated, she pointed out, that American women spend for beauty

JOHNSON IS SIGNED TO MANAGE NEWARK TEAM FOR 2 YEARS

Veteran Pitcher to Play and Direct International League Club.

CONTRACT CONTINGENT UPON CLUBS WAIVING

Owner Block Pleased to Sign Baseball Idol as Leader of His Club.

Walter Johnson has signed a two-year contract as playing-manager of the Newark, N. J. Baseball Club of the International League.

The veteran pitcher, who served the Washington Club continuously for more than 20 years made his farewell gesture to the major leagues last night following a conference here with Paul Block, owner of the Newark Club, agreeing to manage and play for Newark at the "highest salary ever paid a player-manager outside of the major leagues."

Johnson's contract with the Newark Club is necessarily provisional upon the agreement of all major league clubs to waive claim to his services in order that the veteran may enter the International League and it is with this understanding that the contract was signed last night.

Clubs Certain to Waive Claim.

Johnson was given his release by the Washington Club at his own request last October 15 with the understanding of President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, that he be made a free agent, at liberty to sign with any club of his own choosing. President Griffith at the time declared that he was certain that no club would claim Johnson's services in view of the veteran pitcher's extraordinary service and that Johnson would be free to sign with any minor league club.

Waivers on Johnson were asked by the Washington club on October 20 and if, at the expiration of the customary ten-day period, claims are not registered, Johnson will be a free agent. The claiming period ends next Sunday.

Mr. Block, recent purchaser of the Newark club, who is publisher of the Newark Star Eagle, Pittsburgh Post-Gazette, Toledo Blade and other papers, was in Washington yesterday as the guest of the American Advertising Agents who are holding their annual meeting here. Mr. Block was the first to offer Johnson a contract following the announcement that the pitcher had procured his release from the Washington Club.

68 Still Missing From Liner Mafalda; Boiler Bursts After Pipes Fail.

DRAMATIC SCENE ABOARD

Rio Janeiro, Brazil, Oct. 26 (A.P.)—The Italian liner Principessa Mafalda, which sailed from Genoa with nearly a thousand passengers aboard, more than 800 of them Italian emigrants bound for the promised land of South America, lies at the bottom of the ocean off the Brazilian Coast.

Rescuing vessels, hurrying to the aid of the Mafalda's 808, are believed to have rescued 1,170, or all but some 68, out of a total of 1,238 souls, 998 passengers and a crew of 240.

The steamer sank about 80 miles from Ponta Segura, a port of the State of Bahia.

It was about 7:15 o'clock last night when the Mafalda's sudden call for aid was picked up by various ships not far distant. It was about the hour when, the evening mail having been disposed of, the Italians were making ready to celebrate their arrival on the shores of the new country where they intended to set up their homes.

The sea was calm, fortunately, and the night was clear, and the crippled vessel remained afloat for hours, while rescuing steamers were speeding to the scene. It was not until about 11 o'clock that the Mafalda sank.

The Dutch steamer Alhena, the French Formose, the British Empire Star, the British steamer Avelona, the Italian Rosetti and others joined in taking the despairing passengers off the Mafalda, and picking up survivors who

JILTED SUITOR FLEES WITH GIRL'S MOTHER

Elopement, However, Halted When Both Are Hurt in Auto Accident.

Manhattan, Kans., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—The elopement of a mother with her daughter's spurned suitor was halted by a motor car crash here last night, and today Porter-Sharer, 30, and Mrs. Eva Long, 42, Denver, were in a hospital and held on instructions from Denver police. Mrs. Long is married and the mother of five children.

The elopement was reported to police in Denver by Miss Margaret Long, 18, who said her mother and Sharer had eloped after she had refused to marry him.

Sharer and Mrs. Long were injured when their motor car was struck here last night by one driven by C. W. Miller, of Kansas City. Mrs. Long was still unconscious today from what was believed to be a fractured skull and internal injuries. Sharer was suffering from shock and flesh wounds. Miller was slightly injured.

Sharer, whose home is in Bowling Green, Ky., insisted at first that Mrs. Long was his wife, but today was more reticent and told reporters "to see the lady" about it.

Alarm Clock Fright Causes a Fatal Fall

University, Miss., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Frightened by the sound of an alarm clock, E. L. Motherhead, a freshman at the University of Mississippi, fell from the top bunk of a triple-decked bed and received injuries from which he died today.

Motherhead had placed the clock near his head so he would be certain to awake in time to catch a train "or a football game, fellow students said. He was 19 years old.

Student, Trying Loop, Dies in Plane's Fall

Denver, Colo., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Falling in an apparent attempt to make a loop in his airplane, B. T. Merryman, 30, a student flier, fell 800 feet to his death here today. Merryman had been taking instructions at a local airport and was credited with 45 hours flying, of which only 10 minutes was solo work. Before taking off today he had been instructed to practice taking-off and landing only.

Man Who Reported Being Flogged Is Shot

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Robert Collins, 33 years old, who reported to the police October 2 and October 5 that he had been flogged by unmasked men, was shot and seriously wounded last night. He reported today that two men accosted him while he was walking through a park en route home and demanded that he come with them. He ran and was fired upon. Collins said the floggings were accompanied by a demand that he leave town, but police had dropped the investigation, saying he refused to cooperate with them.

FRANCE SUSPENDS HIGH TARIFF ON U. S. GOODS

Status Quo Restored, as an Aid to Negotiations for New Treaty.

EARLY AGREEMENT SEEN

Paris, Oct. 26 (A.P.)—The higher tariff rates recently imposed on American imports by the French government have been suspended pending negotiations for a commercial treaty, M. Bokanowski, minister of commerce, announced tonight.

"Until the end of the negotiations we will return to the status quo ante," said the minister. "I have just finished an interview with Mr. Whitehouse (the American charge d'affaires) in which we examined the latest notes exchanged. They are of a most conciliatory nature and permit us to foresee a definite agreement."

"The first point has been made. We have established a provisional regime for exchanging goods during the negotiations. By the terms of this provisional agreement we are giving the United States the same duties they had before the signing of the commercial agreement with Germany except in cases where the minimum tariffs conceded to Germany are higher."

"In short, it may be said that it means America returns to the status quo ante until the end of the negotiations."

"Experts have already gone over the tariff. The conversations now concern largely machinery and chemical products. It can not yet be said when we will arrive at a definite understanding, but you can be assured that our two governments have a strong desire to reach a conclusion as rapidly as possible."

(Associated Press.)

Action of the French government in suspending high tariff rates recently imposed on American goods, and which were regarded as discriminatory by the Washington Government, was interpreted here as evidence that the basis for negotiation of a treaty of commerce and amity between the two countries to regularize commercial relations has virtually been reached.

Washington officials were extremely hopeful at the time the latest American tariff note was sent to Paris that there

RIVALS FOR TEAPOT DOME LEASES TELL OF CONSULTING FALL

Government Is Pleased With Testimony; Defense Also Satisfied.

TRIAL IS PROCEEDING MORE EXPEDITIOUSLY

Drainage and Secrecy Nearly All In; Way Clearing for Bond Allegation.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

The Government brought up the heavy artillery yesterday in its effort to lay the foundation for its conspiracy charge against Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and Harry F. Sinclair, New York oil magnate.

When the smoke cleared, Government special counsel seemed well satisfied with the effect of this offensive, made up of the testimony of witnesses who either had an interest or hoped to procure an interest in the Teapot Dome lease.

Defense counsel, on the other hand, said at the close of the day that the Government's heavy guns had merely backfired and that each shell sent into the defense rampart had turned out a dud. Thus, both sides expressed satisfaction with the results and smiles wreathed the faces of opposing counsel when the afternoon session was over. There was less friction shown in the legal wrangles and an era of good feeling seemed to permeate the courtroom, as if the politeness and courtesy of Justice Siddons himself had at last become contagious. Even Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who testified, and Martin W. Littleton, of Sinclair counsel, appeared at peace with each other and Roosevelt put his hand almost affectionately on Littleton's shoulder when he conferred with him before the morning session began.

Trial Is Speeded Up.

There was a welcome speeding up in the Government's presentation of its case. The testimony relative to drainage, alleged secrecy and exclusion of competition in making the lease is virtually all in so far as Government witnesses are concerned and the way is paved for possible spectacular developments today in connection with the beginning of the Government's anticipated attempt to prove the following controlling and dominant count in the indictment:

"The said Harry F. Sinclair, on or about the 8th day of May, 1922, delivered, or caused to be delivered, to the said Albert B. Fall, and the said Albert B. Fall received, or caused to be received, from him a large amount of bonds of the United States, known as First Liberty Loan 3½ per cent bonds, of the par value of $230,500."

Bond Transaction Next.

After B. B. Brooks, former Governor of Wyoming, has testified relative to the disappointment felt by the Rocky Mountain Oil and Gas Products Association when Sinclair got the Teapot Dome lease and after the deposition of James G. Darden, who was interested in a quit claim deed of 180 acres, is read to the jury the first Government witness allegedly connected with the bond transaction will be put on the stand. This will be A. S. Booth, of Pueblo, Colo., vice president of the Pueblo First National Bank and treasurer of the M. D. Thatcher Estates Co. He will testify that he bought $145,500 of Liberty Bonds from M. T. Everhart, son-in-law of Fall.

L. T. Rule, a clerk in the employ of the Pueblo Bank, will testify that Everhart handed him $90,000 of United States Liberty Loan bonds and he will testify relative to further receipt of bonds from Everhart for credit to the account of the Tres Ritos Cattle & Land Co., a company in which Fall, Everhart and others were interested.

Then the Government expects to put Everhart on the stand. Everhart has already testified in the civil case at Cheyenne as follows:

"I have never been an employee of the United States Government. I have never been in any way connected officially with the Mammoth Oil Co. or with Harry F. Sinclair. I had nothing at all to do with the transaction of the making of the lease of Teapot Dome."

Incrimination Feared.

Factions in Court.

Paris, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—At the end of the eighth day of one of the most remarkable trials ever conducted in Paris, Samuel Schwartzbard, young Jewish watchmaker, who assassinated Gen. Simon Petlura, Ukrainian separatist leader, on a Paris street corner fifteen months ago was set free this evening by the Court of Assizes.

Schwartzbard was acquitted on all criminal counts, but was condemned to pay a nominal one-franc damages to the family of the victim.

The verdict, which came after 4½ hours of summing up, with Henri Torres, counsel for the defense, taking less than a third of that time, was returned in 33 minutes. On the first of the five counts—"was the accused guilty of striking blows causing the injuries of the victim?"—the answer was negative. Thus the four other counts were dismissed.

The president of the jury, in a trembling voice, but smiling, announced the acquittal, which was greeted with a howl of approval by the jammed courtroom.

Schwartzbard learned of the verdict from the Associated Press correspondent as he was being led into the stifling

Thanksgiving Day Fixed A Proclamation

By the President of the United States

Under the guidance and watchful care of a divine and beneficent Providence this country has been carried safely through another year. Almighty God has continued to bestow upon us the light of his countenance, and we have prospered. Not only have we enjoyed material success, but we have advanced in wisdom and in spiritual understanding. The products of our fields and our factories and of our manifold activities have been maintained on a high level. We have gained in knowledge of the higher values of life. There has been advancement in our physical well being. We have increased our desire for the things that minister to the mind and to the soul. We have raised the mental and moral standards of life. We have had the blessings of peace and of honorable and friendly relations with our sister nations throughout the world. Disasters visiting certain of our States have touched the heart of a sympathetic nation, which has responded generously out of its abundance. In continuing to remember those in affliction we should rejoice in our ability to give them relief.

Now that these twelve months are drawing to a close, it is fitting that, as a nation and as individuals, in accordance with time-honored sacred custom, we should consider the manifold blessings granted to us. While in gratitude we rejoice we should humbly pray that we may be worthy of continuation of divine favor.

Wherefore, I, Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, do hereby set apart and designate Thursday, the 24th day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and recommend and urge that on that day our people lay aside their usual tasks, and, by the family fireside and in their accustomed places of public worship, give thanks to Him who holds all in the hollow of His hand.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the City of Washington this 26th day of October, in the year of Our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and fifty-second.

By the President:
Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State.

CURB ON SMALLER BANKS IS PROPOSED TO CHECK FAILURES

Too Many Established With
Capital of $25,000 or Less, It Is Held.

T. R. PRESTON TO HEAD
NATIONAL ASSOCIATION

Resolution at Houston Says Institutions Are Deeply Interested in Farming.

Houston, Tex., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—A curb on the establishment of new banks with small capitalization was endorsed by the American Bankers Association here today as the major weapon needed to combat bank failures.

Minimum capitalization of from $25,000 to $50,000 was suggested as one requirement that would go a long way toward reducing the number of failures, which have totaled 3,800 in the last six years.

Hope was expressed by the economic policy committee of the organization, which is headed by Evans Wollen, of Indianapolis, that no revolutionary step, such as a general diffusion of branch banking, would be necessary to provide adequate protection for the depositor.

Too many banks have been the principal cause of failures, the commission held, and urged that charters be refused in communities where additional banks are not needed.

The association went on record as favoring immediate and comprehensive legislation by Congress for permanent flood control and declared in a resolution that the association had been deeply interested in developing "sound economic policies for the stabilization of the agricultural industry."

Thomas B. Preston, president of the Hamilton National Bank, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who began his career as a bank runner, was formally elected president of the association at Craig B. Hazelwood, of the Union Trust Co., Chicago, was advanced to the post of first vice president from which he will be elevated to the presidency next year.

John G. Lonsdale, president of the National Bank of Commerce, St. Louis, was named second vice president, putting him in line to succeed Mr. Lonsdale in 1929. Mr. Lonsdale was a real estate dealer in Hot Springs, Ark., before he became a banker. He is 55.

The numerous bank failures of the past few years do not imply a weak condition and poor management in the case of the majority of banks, it was pointed out, the economic policy committee declared.

Strain of Depression.

Indications were found by the commission, however, that "large numbers of banks which seem to be in a flourishing condition are unable to withstand the stress and strain incident to depression and a downward adjustment of values in the communities in which they are established."

Stricter enforcement of the existing banking laws, closer supervision of banking operations by boards of directors, higher salaries for bank examiners and bank commissioners, development of clearing house examination and the promotion of regional bank associations were measures recommended by the commission.

In relation to flood control the association declared "the Federal government should assume the sole responsibility for financing, planning, building and operating the necessary works needed to bring about permanent relief."

The resolution on agricultural policy also urged that because of the seriousness of this flood problem it be divorced from all other national issues.

MRS. GRAYSON'S PILOT, ANGRY AT STORY, QUILTS

Stultz, After Long Pleading, Agrees to Remain and Test New Motor.

NO PROMISE ON FLIGHT

Special to The Washington Post.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 26.—After an afternoon and night of pleading, Wilmer Stultz, pilot of the Dawn, who resigned from the crew early today, promised all day, Frances Grayson that he would stay with the ship until its new motor, which arrived today, has been tested. But he would not promise to attempt to pilot the Forest Hills real estate woman across the Atlantic.

For "Smiling Bill" was mad clear through when she had told of his turning the ship back to land before one of the motors went bad last week on the Dawn's third false start for Denmark. He felt that the implications Mrs. Grayson had allowed to slip into her story of that 1,000-mile flight were an unwarranted reflection on his courage.

But he would not squawk. He insisted he had turned the ship back only when to continue meant certain death for the crew of three, that he could take the amphibian and its crew to Europe when the weather was right, but that he was not helping any one to commit suicide. He contends that the fog was then so dense that it shut out all visibility and showed promise of lifting. He says he did not want to land beside the freighter they encountered, but that he did insist on circling around the ship until he was certain his crippled motor would last the 300 miles more to the beach here.

Stultz has been a test pilot for many years and has worn a parachute on all of his flights in untried planes, but has never jumped and let this ship crack up, preferring instead to fight it out to bring the ship safely to land.

Mrs. Grayson's story that he had wanted to land in the lee of the steamship, he feels, injured this remarkable record.

SEARCHERS TOLD WOMAN GOT $2 FOR JEWELRY AND BOUGHT TICKET FOR THIS CITY.

Col. William A. Kroll, marriage license clerk at the courthouse, whose sole duty is to issue "bliss permits," essayed the role of a divorce court judge yesterday and settled a case in record time, namely three and a half minutes.

A man and his wife, who were much too agitated to give their names, approached Col. Kroll with the announcement that they wanted a divorce and wanted it right away. "I can't get a job," the man announced. "There is no use in us staying married because I have no money and no job."

Col. Kroll looked aside at the man and said: "You got a divorce your wife would have to have all money and you would have to work anyhow, otherwise you would go to jail for failure to pay alimony. If you don't support your wife while you have her you may also go to jail for non-support. So it is as broad as it is long. My suggestion is that both of you go to work and forget about the divorce—because you could not get it anyhow."

The pair walked out, sadder, but wiser.

Col. William A. Kroll, marriage license clerk at the courthouse, whose sole duty is to issue "bliss permits," essayed the role of a divorce court judge yesterday and settled a case in record time, namely three and a half minutes.

A man and his wife, who were much too agitated to give their names, approached Col. Kroll with the announcement that they wanted a divorce and wanted it right away. "I can't get a job," the man announced. "There is no use in us staying married because I have no money and no job."

Col. Kroll looked aside at the man and said: "You got a divorce your wife would have to have all money and you would have to work anyhow, otherwise you would go to jail for failure to pay alimony. If you don't support your wife while you have her you may also go to jail for non-support. So it is as broad as it is long. My suggestion is that both of you go to work and forget about the divorce—because you could not get it anyhow."

The pair walked out, sadder, but wiser.

BLANKET STRESSES 'FORMER' OFFICIALS WHO HED UP DATA

Lists Six Who Refused to Aid Him in Demanding Brown's Figures.

SAYS HE WILL FIND WAY TO OBTAIN INFORMATION

Veterans' Bureau Employees Warned Against Too Much Outside Work.

Listing the official scalps that he has either lifted or lacerated, Representative Thomas L. Blanton, of Texas, yesterday addressed another fiery letter to Herbert D. Brown, chief of the United States Bureau of Efficiency, a letter in which he flung back the charge of "impudence" and warned Brown he would find a way to get the information he wanted.

Blanton mentioned the names of six men he had extracted information from, and the title of each man was preceded by an ominous "former." Among the six were former Commissioners Fenning and Rudolph and former Director of the Veterans Bureau, Col. Charles R. Forbes.

In his letter to Brown two weeks ago, Blanton asked him for the names and salaries of the officials and employees of the Efficiency Bureau. He wanted this information for an investigation he is making designed to bring about the abolition of the bureau.

Bureau Called Worthless.

When Brown failed to supply the information, Blanton wrote him another letter. He characterized Brown's bureau as being inefficient and worthless, and demanded that Brown explain a report that he had worked on the side for the Du Pont interests of Wilmington, Del. Brown characterized Blanton's letter as a "bit of impudence," and announced he would ignore it.

Blanton's letter yesterday follows, in part:

"The press quotes you as saying that you will ignore my letters, and not give me the information I requested. This convinces me more than ever that your bureau should be abolished.

"The people elect congressmen who are to determine whether there shall be a Bureau of Efficiency, how many employees it shall have, what salaries they draw and what work they shall perform, and the people expect their congressmen to be intimately and thoroughly informed when casting such votes."

He reminded Brown of his failure to supply information about his office, cited Brown's remark that the last letter was impudent, and declared the people and Congress would decide who had been impudent.

"It makes me suspicious," continued Blanton, "when the chief of that bureau, in response to my request for pertinent information, says that I am guilty of impudence in asking for the same."

Forbes' Refusal Recalled.

"When I requested a former director of the Veterans Bureau, Col. Charles R. Forbes, pertinent information, he likewise said that my request was impudent, and that he would ignore it and not furnish the information."

"When I requested pertinent information from Capt. McDonald, former superintendent of park police, he likewise said that my request was impudent and that he would ignore it and not furnish the information."

"When I requested pertinent information from Col. Clarence O. Sherrill, he likewise said that my request was impudent and that he would ignore it and not furnish the information."

"But I found other ways of getting all such information before the above officials ceased doing business for the Government."

"You will doubtless remember that when I requested pertinent information from Commissioner Frederick A. Fenning, he likewise said that my request was impudent and that he would ignore it and not furnish the information. But the information was procured."

Refers to Rudolph Case.

"When I requested pertinent information from Commissioner Rudolph respecting the contracts his firm had made with the District and the income of certain hotels, in which he was at least indirectly interested, received from the tax monopoly and the use by him of a $2,100 fireman to chauffeur for, his wife, he likewise accused me of impudence and attempted to ignore my request and not furnish the information, but the information did come before he resigned."

"And as a representative of the people, it is very likely that I shall find some means of securing the desired information respecting the number of employees and the salaries drawn in the Bureau of Efficiency."

Hines Warns of Extra Work.

In connection with the report that Mr. Brown had worked on the side for the Du Pont interests, and his explanation that what he did after government hours was his own business, a general order issued by Director of the Veterans Bureau, Frank T. Hines, yesterday attracted more than ordinary attention.

Gen. Hines said in his order that it is not expected that officials and employees of the Veterans Bureau "shall make such drafts upon their energies through outside practice or other occupation as to lower their efficiency as employees of the Veterans Bureau."

Whenever an employee, through outside work, becomes so inefficient as to become undesirable, Gen. Hines warned, he will be separated from the service.

LIQUOR TRIALS URGED UNDER SHEPPARD ACT

Douthitt Asks Imposition of Greater Penalties Than the Volstead Law Provides.

Harry N. Douthitt, field secretary for the Citizens Service Association for Law and Order, yesterday asked to be induced the District prosecuting authorities to prosecute liquor cases under the old Sheppard law, instead of the Volstead act.

He has had the proposal up with Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, and yesterday took it up with the corporation counsel's office and with Assistant Attorney General Major William Brandt.

Under the Sheppard law, adopted three years before the Volstead act, the penalty for the first offense in making, selling and transporting liquor is $500 and 30 days imprisonment. Penalties for early offenses are less drastic than those provided by the Volstead act, which has been construed as superseding the Sheppard law, except for drinking in public and drunkenness, which are the only offenses now punished under it.

TRADE COMMISSION APPROVES NEW BILL ON BUILDING HEIGHT

Arts Body Given Control Over Plans of Structures Near Public Grounds.

FEATURES OUTLINED BY GRANT AT MEETING

Extension of Maryland Avenue to District Line Indorsed; Widenings Are Urged.

A new bill drawn by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, affecting the height, construction and exterior design of private buildings within 200 feet of a public building or park, and giving authority to the Fine Arts Commission to pass finally on the plans, was approved yesterday at a luncheon meeting at the Cosmos Club of the architect on public buildings of the Board of Trade.

The proposed bill was offered as a substitute to the former one proposed, limiting the height of buildings within 200 feet of a public building or park to 40 feet. No height limit is proposed in the new bill, but the Fine Arts Commission would be given authority to regulate height and design of structures, in keeping with the surroundings of public property, so as not to detract from their beauty, and subject to existing zoning regulations.

The planning commission will be asked to publish a "list of general requirements for new structures adjacent to the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, who outlined some of the features of the bill; Fred Colburn, general counsel for the commission; Capt. Whitehurst, assistant to the Engineer Commissioner, and Melvin Hazen, District surveyor.

Seek Facts on New Building.

Robert Beresford, chairman of the committee, was authorized to gather full facts and data on the proposed two-story building to be erected at the northeast corner of Fourteenth and E streets northwest by the United Cigar Stores Co. of America.

Indorsement of the plan to have Maryland avenue extended from Fifteenth street northeast to the District line to connect with the Defense highway, in accordance with the plans of the Park and Planning Commission, affording another inlet to the city, was given by the committee on streets and avenues.

Robert Howard, who has been working with W. C. and A. N. Miller to effect the extension, outlined the proposed road. This would take in Oklahoma avenue, the part by the National Training School for Boys, connecting with the new highway at the border.

Widening and resurfacing of Fifteenth street, northwest, from W to Euclid streets and eliminating the sidewalk on the west side of the street paralleling Meridian Park was also indorsed.

Horace Peaslee, the architect, explained that walkways had been provided on that side of Fifteenth street and that the plan was to provide a sidewalk there.

Want 17th Street Extended.

An appeal will be made to the Engineer Commissioner to extend Seventeenth street north into the Piney Branch valley entrance of Rock Creek Park, west of the Tiger Bridge.

A committee will be appointed to appear before the District Commissioners, Senate and House District committees, to urge immediate extension of Fourteenth street north through Walter Reed Hospital. A letter will be written to the Commissioners asking for the resurfacing of Twelfth street southwest from the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks to B street. The committee also approved the extension of New Hampshire and Rhode Island avenues to the District line, and the removal of the corner station at Fifteenth and H streets northeast, which was cited as a menace to traffic, being at the eastern end of Maryland avenue.

The Planning Commission will be asked to submit a plan for widening Eighteenth street and Columbia road northwest. It was pointed out that the sidewalk at this corner has a width of from 24 to 30 feet, while the street from the curbline to the car tracks is only 16 feet.

Police Association Gives Entertainment

Members of the Metropolitan Police Association, their wives, children, and friends to the number of about 1,800, gathered last night at the City Club for the association's fall entertainment and ball.

The program opened with announcements by G. B. Wheelock, H. W. Linberg, president, made a brief talk. A "grand spectacular ballet" then was presented under the direction of Miss Clara Roehrl. Next appeared the drum and bugle corps of the Costello Post, American Legion. Eight vaudeville numbers followed. The event closed with the dance.

Corporation Counsel Speeds Police Court

Corporation Counsel W. W. Brice said yesterday that the Police Court trial work of his department is now practically caught up and current cases are being tried with a clear docket for the first time since 1912.

Rapid disposition of cases long standing was accomplished, he said, by the effective work of his assistants, Walter L. Fowler, Richard B. Keech and Elwood H. Seal. Jury trials have been held five days a week instead of two as customary and there are now only 75 of these pending as compared with 487 July 1.

Reward Is Offered For Missing Girl, 15

Believing that her niece, Miss Jeanette Denblinsky, 15 years old, who disappeared from her home in New York ten days ago, may be in this city, Mrs. Ida Kallinsky, 2221 Georgia avenue northwest, yesterday appealed to The Post to aid in her search for the girl.

Mrs. Kallinsky said she will reward anyone who can furnish her with information which might lead to finding the girl. Jeanette is a medium sized girl and rather pretty, Mrs. Kallinsky said. She is a brunette.

Immorality Increase Denied by Bishop

Immorality is not on the increase, nor is there growth in defection from the church, Bishop James E. Freeman declared yesterday afternoon at corner stone laying exercises for the Parish House of the Christ Episcopal Church, Rockville, Md., just completed at a cost of $20,000.

Bishop Freeman said the church encourages wholesome amusements, and urged that the new building be used to this purpose. Following the exercises a supper was given by the woman's auxiliary for the benefit of the Parish House building fund. The first floor of the building will be used for Sunday school and social purposes and the second floor will have a large auditorium.

HUGH REID'S WARRANT SCORNFUL BY MACKEY

Says He Will Not Apologize for Statement in the Political Row.

Faced with first on a warrant charging that he obtained the false publication of the statement that Hugh Reid, of Arlington County, Democratic candidate for the Virginia House of Delegates, had applied for membership in the Ku Klux Klan and been rejected, Cranford Mackey, Washington attorney, yesterday declared "Mr. Reid's warrant is about as much concern to me as a fly buzzing around my coat tails."

Reid, after swearing to the warrant before Justice of the Peace Bryan Gordon, announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the Arlington Citizens Association that the warrant would not be served unless Mackey failed to apologize before sundown Saturday.

Mackey said he had no intention of apologizing Saturday "or any other day." Mackey said he inquired at the Arlington County Court house yesterday to know why the warrant had not been served and asked one of the officers to serve it. He had not been served last night, Mackey said.

Yesterdays situation assumed the main body of the enemy had captured Washington and was resting on Hyattsville, Md., advancing yesterday morning, the fifteen-mile march for its Infantry being too fatiguing, however, and the main attack is expected today.

The enemy line will then parallel the Little Patuxent River at a distance of 1,500 yards north of the stream. A battle of troops will be held south of the river, it is assumed, to cover its retreat in case of repulse.

In theory the defending artillery from Fort Myer, Va., and Fort Hoyle, Md., will be in the rear of the right center of the line, but for safety of inhabitants of the district it actually will be to the extreme right.

The real battle is expected to begin at dawn today with the advance of the enemy, the defending artillery concentrating on his right wing and firing to the extreme right.

If the umpires rule the attack is repulsed Baltimore is saved.

LITTLE PATUXENT RIVER IS CROSSED BY "ENEMY"

Twelfth Infantry Forced Back But Succeeds in Protecting Camp Meade.

REAL BATTLE DUE TODAY

A summary of yesterday's maneuvers of Third Corps Area troops from here and elsewhere, engaged in the defense of Baltimore, in the vicinity of Fort Meade, Md., showed the advance body of the "enemy" succeeded in crossing the Little Patuxent River after a skirmish with the Twelfth Infantry from Fort Meade, Md., and Howard, Md.

Forced back by numerical superiority of the invaders the Twelfth Infantry in good order, having achieved a strategic victory in protecting Camp Meade, where area troops were assembling, the Twelfth Infantry, from Fort Meade, Va., was delayed, engine trouble holding up its train of 58 trucks.

Yesterdays situation assumed the main body of the enemy had captured Washington and was resting on Hyattsville, Md., advancing yesterday morning, the fifteen-mile march for its Infantry being too fatiguing, however, and the main attack is expected today.

the shapes of the various pieces tell authentic tales of the land in which they were created. Prices begin at $1. for a small vase, and go to $37.50 for a covered Holland jar.

HOLLAND

The stolid beauty and heavily colorful characteristics of the Dutch are admirably shown in the vase and pottery smoking set shown here that have been brought from the land of the Zuider Zee.

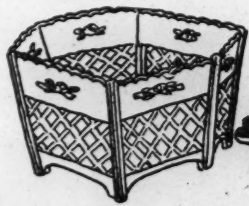

BELGIUM

The lowlands of Belgium contribute oddly shaped vases with novel and colorful decorations to our pottery tour of the world. The crackle finish of most of the pieces is very attractive.

FRANCE

The tri-color of Lafayette's country takes on more harmonizing hues to form the mottled background of these pieces. It is singularly appropriate that autumnal sprays should be the decorations.

SPAIN

Almost pagan in their riotous color combinations are the wall vases, urn-shaped containers, etc., from the land of the Inquisition. Floral motifs with geometric borders are outstanding.

ITALY

The glamour and beauty of the antiquity of the "Eternal City" has been captured and faithfully reproduced in the novel flower or bonbon dishes and candlesticks shown here.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Our pottery tour would not be complete unless we included pieces from this new Balkan country. Rich, red colorings and moulded decorations of ancient inspiration are typical of the country.

CHINA

So true to the country from which they came are these Oriental vases that seeing them means conjuring up visions of the great wall. They are trimmed very delicately with etched scenes.

JAPAN

And from "the land of the lotus flower" come novel rose bowls and vases with beautiful borders that accentuate the interestingly colored scenes and bands that are their decorations.

CHICAGO BOOK WAR RAKES UNIVERSITY'S CLASS IN HISTORY

Gorman Reads Alleged Pro-British Texts, as Board Members Browse.

Special to The Washington Post.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The University of Chicago history department was denounced as a stronghold of King George by former Representative John J. Gorman, testifying in the trial of Superintendent William McAndrew by the board of education. For two hours the shades of Redcoats and Minute Men chased each other across the board room while Mr. Gorman read pages and chapters about the Revolutionary War. Mr. Gorman first protested against the lack of seriousness on the part of the newspapers and the public concerning Mayor W. H. Thompson's charges that school textbooks contain pro-British propaganda. The mayor, he said, regretted that his "America first" slogan had been belittled by false reports of book burnings by the public hangman.

Arthur M. Schlesinger, Mr. Gorman said, wrote a book entitled "New Views on American History." That book, along with some 50 others, has been used in an advanced history course at the University of Chicago. Teachers employed by the Chicago Board of Education, who are taking up the charges, have been among those enrolled in the history course in which Mr. Schlesinger's book is used. Passages were read by the witness at intervals by Frank Righelimer, school board attorney; the hearing was a monologue by Mr. Gorman.

Page followed page in monotonous succession until the trial of the superintendent became more like an arid history lesson on the wings of afternoon. The defendant was asleep; so was his counsel. President Coath said after the meeting adjourned that he had counted five board members asleep at one time. Mr. Coath alternated with Vice President John A. English in the chair.

"Something's got to be done to pep up this trial," Mr. Coath said. "It's beginning to fall flat and everybody goes to sleep. I'm in favor of cutting this history stuff out."

Mayor Thompson's redcoat sniper, U. J. Hermann made his first foray on the Chicago Public Library late today. He searched in armed with catalogue numbers furnished him by the Patriot's League of four books said to have been dictated from Buckingham Palace and strode out with the allegedly seditious volumes.

Tipped off by League. The Patriot's League, the name of whose emissary Hermann could not recall, tipped the library lieutenant off to the traitorous books as a result of his threat to go over and find them himself should no other informants appear.

"I haven't time to read these books myself," Hermann declared. "I'll turn them over to the Patriot's League and let them mark the passages they think are pro-British. Then I shall point them out to the library administrator."

The four volumes that Hermann returned are "The American National History," by Albert Bushnell Hart, of Harvard, published in 1907 and dedicated, with a frontispiece, to Theodore Roosevelt; "Principles of American History," by George Washington; "The Story of American Democracy," by Willis Mason West, of Minnesota, published in 1908 and dedicated, with frontispiece, to George Washington; and "The Making of Freckles Vanish and Clears My Skin!"

However joyously you may have flirted with wind and sun under vacation skies, the coming indoor season demands a clear complexion, free from freckles and tan! Lovely Kathryn O'Rourke, of Jersey City, N. J., tells how she keeps her skin white and clear with Black and White Beauty Cream.

"I find Black and White Beauty Cream excellent for improving my complexion," says Miss O'Rourke. "It clears and whiten my skin and makes freckles vanish as if by magic!"

This fresh-colored cream—delightfully dainty and easy to apply—quickly and safely removes the mask of freckles, tan or other discoloration that hides the natural beauty of your skin. Used regularly, it will keep your complexion up to its highest standard of fairness.

Black and White Beauty Creams are of a quality acceptable to those who seek the best, at prices within the reach of all—25c and 50c.

New Bike Marathon Record Set in South

Wilmington, N. C., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Tired, blistered and worn almost to a frazzle, Albert Jordan, 17, jumped from his bicycle here last night at 10:50, after riding since 6 o'clock Monday morning, establishing a new world's record of 40 hours and 35 minutes of continuous bicycling.

"Yes, I could ride some more right now," he said in answer to a query as to how he felt. He had conquered the record made by Dwight Gooden, who rode the Washington road, who rode 36 hours and 3 minutes about three weeks ago. There was a slight difference in the mileage of the two riders, McEwen's speedometer showing 261.4 while Jordan's showed only 230.3.

Jordan said he was positive his speedometer was recording accurately last night, only 30 miles being shown throughout the night.

"CHIEF DEVIL" PICTURED IN CENSUS INVESTIGATION

Person Other Than Mrs. Knapp Largely Responsible, Says Laidlaw Report.

NAMED IN BURNED DATA

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Responsibility for alleged irregularities in administration of the 1925 State census was laid today to a "chief devil" who has not as yet been brought to light.

This was revealed in a confidential report made to the Cities Census Committee, Inc., on October 17, last, by its secretary, Dr. Walter B. Laidlaw, and read by Commissioner Randall J. Leboeuf, Jr., at today's session of the investigation ordered by Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

The reading of the report came as a surprise to Dr. Laidlaw and followed testimony by him that he did not know Mrs. Florence S. Knapp, former secretary of State and census administrator, had been "100 per cent culpable for all the waste."

"The chief devil in the whole business," he mentioned in a report, "was a person who was not named in the report. I wanted those burnt papers to tell me who that person was. Leboeuf knows who he is."

Commissioner Leboeuf took occasion at that point to deny he knew the "chief devil's" identity. The burnt papers referred to by Dr. Laidlaw in his report, it was brought out, were census records he charges were burned by Mrs. Knapp, but which she contends were destroyed by a member of the committee. "Without these papers you can't name the 'chief devil,'" he was asked by Commissioner Leboeuf.

Dr. Laidlaw, whom Mrs. Knapp had charged threatened to "get her" when she refused to approve a $600 expense account submitted by him, denied he ever disagreed with her over expenses. He said Mrs. Knapp never had called attention to his expenses or said she thought they were too high.

Giant U. S. Warships Arrive at Charleston

Charleston, S. C., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—With the flag of Vice Admiral Ashley N. Robertson, commander of the Scouting Fleet, fluttering in the breeze, the battleship Arkansas arrived in port here today from Chesapeake Bay along with the Florida, another giant of the sea.

The Arkansas docked at the Union Pier, where Mayor Thomas F. Stoney, other city officials and Navy and Army officers greeted the admiral. The Florida anchored in the harbor.

The arrival of the battleships, accompanied by a cruiser, two destroyers and a number of destroyers, insures the presence of a number of Uncle Sam's Navy vessels here for the Navy Day celebration tomorrow.

Causes of the War of Independence," by Van Tyne, published in 1922. But even Hermann, who has stuck throughout all protests to his plan for consigning the books to a lake-front bonfire, retreated today, following the mayor's disclaimer that he had ordered the books to be burned.

"As long as a magazine once had the library board no books will be burned," Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of the People's Church, announced today at a meeting of the League of the Chicago and Cook County Federation of Women's Clubs. The speaker is a member of the library administration committee.

German Editor in Fray. Frederick F. Schrader, 71, editor of the Progressive Magazine, arrived in Chicago from New York today at the invitation of Mayor Thompson to testify at the trial of Supt. McAndrews. A delegation of German-Americans on Sunday requested the mayor to call Schrader to the witness stand.

Immediately after his arrival he addressed a meeting of the Stuyvesant City at the Sherman Hotel. Frederick Bausman, former judge of the Washington State Supreme Court, who has addressed the McAndrew trial board, was another speaker.

Both of the speakers charged that King George is campaigning to break down the Americanism of school children that they may "betray their country" at the opportune time.

"I think the Mayor Thompson will go down in our histories as a great hero for having initiated this investigation," Schrader eulogized his host.

It was charged by Clarence Darrow, Lessing Rosenthal and Laird Bell, opposed to the school and library war, that Schrader may have a native and prejudiced distrust of the British crown. Schrader was born in Hamburg, Germany, and was once editor of the "Patriot," a magazine once barred from the mails because of its pro-German views.

War on Religious Texts. Springfield, Ill., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Grand Dragon G. L. Carter, of the Ku Klux Klan, here today announced his sympathy for Mayor William Hale Thompson's anti-British propaganda stand, today said the Klan and procured the services of certain educators and historians to compile a record of the religious propaganda in the school text books of Chicago.

"The Klan has found that there is as much pro religious propaganda in the text books as there is fundamental American facts," Mr. Carter said, "but knowing that all of Mayor Thompson's time is occupied with his anti-British program, the Klan has undertaken to compile a record of the pro-religious facts."

In the last few years, school texts have become literally filled with alleged information regarding the activities of certain religious leaders," Mr. Carter said, "and the Klan is endeavoring to rid the public schools of all influences that conflict with the spirit and ideals of the Declaration of Independence of the United States."

SECRETARY ON NOTE F. S. P. GILBERT AROUSES GERMANY BY CURTISS PLANT

Mysterious Memorandum by Reparations Agent Up in Executive Session.

MEETING OBLIGATIONS
PROMISED BY KOEHLER

Foreign Office Sees Danger to Reich Unless Text Can Be Published Soon.

Berlin, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—A mysterious memorandum from S. Parker Gilbert, agent general for reparations, to the German government received an airing today at a secret session of the Reichstag's budget commission after Finance Minister Koehler had made a public report on the Reich's finances to the committee.

After predicting in an open meeting of the committee that the Dawes plan would not be endangered by rising governmental expenses, Dr. Koehler asked the committee to go into executive session before he went into the matter of Mr. Gilbert's note, which has aroused deep comment and speculation as to its nature. Dr. Koehler, however, is understood to have refrained from revealing the entire note even in a secret session.

In the open session Dr. Koehler told the legislators that the German economic ascendancy which was one of the main points of the Dawes plan, about an increase of federal revenues and reduction of expenses. He predicted that taxes and duties will in all probability place a surplus of 300,000,000 marks, while pruning of administrative expenses may yield another 200,000,000.

Will Fulfill Obligations. Dr. Koehler reiterated that the Government was determined to fulfill its obligations under the Dawes plan, although he hopes its enforcement would always be carried out with due cognizance of Germany's economic progress. After his report there were no objections when he asked for the doors to be closed for discussion of the Gilbert memorandum. Even Government officials were asked to leave the room. Reports which leaked out after the closed session, however, were that the committee did not discuss the note.

In some quarters it was said that the note was simply an amplification of Mr. Gilbert's warning of last June as to the effect increasing expenses might have on the Dawes plan, and beyond showing a greater degree of frankness, there is nothing in the note to justify the tempest it aroused.

Over the effect of the political commotion is a request of the Hansatic League for a "financial dictator" who shall be empowered with great power and permitted to participate in cabinet meetings and Reichstag sessions.

Gilbert Keeping Aloof. Gilbert is keeping himself aloof from the situation aroused by the note. He declines to discuss the memorandum, although he intimates that it does not concern any government bills before the Reichstag, nor does it warrant partisan charges that he is interfering in the nation's politics.

He indicated that the note discusses with complete objectivity issues affecting German finances in relation to future operations of the Dawes plan and epitomizes the trend of numerous oral discussions between the reparations agent and the minister of finance.

At the foreign office it was said that speedy publication of the Gilbert memorandum would be welcomed, as it is believed the prevailing secrecy is inimical to the interests of the Reich abroad.

ON TRIAL FOR LIFE, SHE READS PAPERS

Jury Begins Deliberating in Case of Nurse Who Killed Landlord.

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 26.—The jury in the case of Miss Mary E. Swann, former Baltimore nurse, charged with killing her landlord, Daniel Mosser, began its deliberations at 5 o'clock this afternoon after having heard arguments for four hours. Three attorneys talked on each side.

State's Attorney William A. Huster, of Annapolis, moved one of the jurors to show that in the audience to leave when he referred to Mrs. Mosser, left a widow with four children, three of whom were by her side in court at the time.

While former State's Attorney E. Ray Jones, of Oakland, was scoring the prisoner and ridiculing her story of the shooting, the set reading a newspaper account of the trial with glaring headlines. At the same time Mrs. Mosser was weeping.

Miss Swann was the last witness before the case was closed. She was called in rebuttal of testimony tending to show that things had been "rough" about the house after the shooting, to which there was no witness, that would indicate she had been attacked. She explained how the half brick came to be on the table. She said she repaired harness and had used a wrench found on the table to drive a nail through the lever, with the brick underneath. The testimony followed State's witnesses who said the wrench bore brick dust and that no marks could be found to indicate a brick had been thrown.

AUXILIARY FOR VESSELS

Forward Motion of Only 50 to 70 Miles an Hour at the Start Is Promised.

Garden City, N. Y., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Construction of a "vertically rising airplane" of revolutionary design has been authorized by the board of directors of the Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., it was announced today.

Successful wind-tunnel tests of the machine have been made, it was said, at the company's experimental laboratory here. Construction of the new type plane was estimated to cost $75,000.

The new plane, which embodies some of the principles of the auto-gyro, is the invention of M. B. Bleecker, 24 years old, who said the idea came to him while he was a student in the aeronautical department of the University of Michigan.

While accomplishing successfully the single objective for which years of experimentation have been spent on the helicopter, the new model does not fall in this classification. Company officials declare it is outside of all previous classifications of aircraft and have called the new design a "perfectly rising airplane."

Three Wings on Standard Type. The wind-tunnel model has four wings, but the plane construction will be more simplified and the standard type will have three wings. After his report there were no objections when he asked for the doors to be closed for discussion of the Gilbert memorandum. Even Government officials were asked to leave the room. Reports which leaked out after the closed session, however, were that the committee did not discuss the note.

Schools Drop Title Of Truant Officer

Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—The truant officer—bogy man to the youngster who plays hooky from school—will soon be no more.

Not that the officer won't be on the job to see that Johnny returns to the halls of learning, but he will be known by the less gruesome title of "officer of child delinquency."

This new term is also rapidly abolishing the term "department of compulsory education" throughout the United States. A. N. Hennig, director of child delinquency at Detroit, told the National League of Compulsory Education officers here today.

were huddled in small boats on clinging to rafts. The Alhena sent a wireless message tonight that she had 500 survivors aboard and would reach Rio Janeiro tomorrow.

The Empire Star is reported to have rescued 185, the Formosa 110, the Rosetti 150.

A graphic description of the disaster that befell the Italian liner Princess Mafalda, told to commanders of the rescue ships by survivors, was sent by wireless tonight to the Associated Press.

Supper had been served and the passengers, especially the emigrants, were in high spirits, having heard that on the morning they would be in the beautiful port of Rio and then two days later in Argentina, the land of their dreams. So there was a merry celebration beginning in the third class quarters, when suddenly the ship came to a brusque halt, as though she had run upon a mud bank.

Court Orders Play, Called 'Evil' Produced

Newark, N. J., Oct. 26 (A.P.).—A writ compelling a proprietor of a theater to present a play he believed improper was granted today to the producer by Vice Chancellor Church. He said he did not "care how many affidavits say the play is salacious," adding, "no doubt an equal number could be obtained saying that it is not."

The injunction was granted to Isaiah Leboeuf, owner of the producing rights of New York, a play dramatizing the life of women in the streets, and was directed against M. S. Schlesinger, owner of the Broad Street Theater. Schlesinger after signing a contract for the production of the play informed the producer he could not present it because he feared it would bring "irreparable damage to the reputation of the life of women in the streets, and was directed against M. WAVE-LENGTH AGREEMENT REACHED IN WORLD RADIO

Subcommittee Makes Concessions to Countries Opposing Earlier Allocation.

FINAL APPROVAL NEEDED

(Associated Press.) A compromise satisfactory to European nations represented at the International Radio Conference was reached by a technical subcommittee yesterday, making concessions to those countries which opposed earlier allocation of wave lengths for broadcasting purposes on the contention the allocation restricted their stations.

Under the compromise, all European countries will be permitted, for one year after ratification of the convention, to broadcast on frequencies between 1,500 and 1,340 meters. The earlier agreement had confined broadcasting to the wave lengths between 1,500 and 1,375 and between 230 and 545 meters, but under the new arrangement foreign stations now operating on other frequencies will be allowed to continue.

The compromise is subject to ratification by the full committee of the conference, but it was expected that would follow without objection.

Considerable discussion of the voting strength of the many delegations developed, following action of Tuesday in accordance with Germany 6 votes, giving her equal power with other nations with numerous countries in Japan, with 2 votes, compared with the maximum of 6 held by several other powers, served notice that in the future she will require voting parity.

England proposed that hereafter each colony with an independent radio administration be granted a vote, while the Chinese delegation suggested that votes be based on the amount of traffic handled.

260 KILLED AS TRAIN PLUNGES OVER CLIFF

Jugoslav Passengers Hurdled
Down Mile-High Rocks
on Sarajevo Line.

London, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—The Vienna correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Co. learns that 260 persons are reported to have been killed when a passenger train plunged over a precipice between Sarajevo and Mostar, Yugoslavia.

A narrow gauge and partly rack-and-railway runs through a mountainous district between Sarajevo and Mostar.

It traverses the ridge of Ivan Planina (3,172 feet), the watershed between the Adriatic and Black Sea, by a tunnel. The train crossed the ridge and then descends through the wild Karst Valley, a difficult and near Mostar passes the precipices of the Velez (6,225 feet).

Permanuco, Brazil, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—An explosion in the boilers brought down the Italian liner Princess Mafalda off the coast of Brazil last night, reports received here declare.

More than 200 passengers were aboard, the captain, realizing that his vessel was sinking, ordered full steam toward the Abrohos rocks, Santa Barbara Islets, not many miles from the mainland.

To calm the alarmed steerage passengers, of whom there were some 800, the captain ordered the orchestra to play the Italian anthem. Officers and seamen alike moved among the frightened Italian emigrants, to stay their fears and encourage them with hope of early rescue.

For several hours the Princess Mafalda kept on her course until shoal water was reached. Then the French steamer Formosa came, and other vessels, British, Dutch, and Italian, soon were circling the crippled liner.

With amazing speed the seamen had their boats and soon were taking off the passengers of the liner and picking up those already in small boats in the sea. The process of rescue and rescuers served to assure the passengers, although at that very time the Mafalda was sinking fast.

Salvage Work Begun. Wireless messages, telling briefly of the disaster, report a total of 1,150 passengers and crew saved from the Mafalda by the ships that took the leading part in the rescue. It is possible that others may have been rescued.

The Brazilian liner Bage and the British steamer Andes, 120 miles off at the time the Mafalda sank, were sent out, asked if their presence was necessary. The French steamer Mosella radioed back that they need not come. There were plenty of ships at the scene, and they continued on their course.

It is reported that small craft of all descriptions have put out and are proceeding to the spot where the Mafalda went down, to search for the missing and to salvage what they may. The Brazilian steamer, named millions of Rio de Janeiro, are reported to have lost fancy dresses to the value of $125,000, which they were carrying back for their carnival season.

ALL SCHOOLS ATTACKED IN A $100,000 VOLUME

A. B. See, Critic of Women's Colleges, Is Financing the Publication.

WAS WRITTEN BY HIMSELF

New York, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Alonzo B. See, elevator boss and whose condemnation of women's colleges two years ago drew much adverse criticism, now has launched a $100,000 attack on all American schools and systems of education in his own book, "Schools." He said today the book would be on the stands about Christmas time. It is to be issued privately, at his own expense, and he estimated the cost of producing it at $100,000.

"The little red schoolhouse turned out better-trained youths than the colleges today," the amateur author said. "I attack all the schools, all the colleges. None of them is any good. None of them recognizes the ultimate factors of education."

"I've asked hundreds of boys what they learn at school. They tell me 'everything,' but none of them can explain what that means. Naturally, they do get everything—a smattering of arithmetic and forestry, of biology and algebra—but when they finally leave school scarcely one of them can add up a column of figures."

Mr. See said his book would point out that American education is "getting away from the fundamentals. The volume touches upon women's colleges as an incidental phase, he said, but he has changed none of his views concerning these institutions since his own library when he could spare the time from his business.

It took him ten years to assemble the material and get it down on paper. Mr. See said. The writing was done in his own library when he could spare the time from his business.

Church Builds Road To End Its Isolation

Cherokee, Iowa, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—The congregation of Trinity Lutheran Church and farmers who live near the church turned road builders to end the institution's isolation.

Men and women of the community donated two days labor, and with a motor truck and horse-drawn wagons hauled 100 loads of gravel from a pit the mile away, so that the church would have a connecting road to the main highway.

The Rev. A. C. Ilton, pastor of the church for almost twenty years, supervised the road construction.

"Jubilee" Diamond Is Soon to Be Sold

London, Oct. 26 (A.P.).—Diamond and precious stone dealers are agog with interest at the news of the forthcoming sale of the "Jubilee Diamond," said to be the loveliest and third largest stone in the world.

The "Jubilee" is oval shape and was found in the Nagairo mine 22 years ago. It weighed 640 carats before and 230 carats after cutting. It is owned by an English and Indian syndicate headed by Sir D. Tata, the Parsee millionaire. It is reported that a quarter million pounds sterling is being asked for the gem.

Rushed to Shoal Water. With amazing speed the seamen had their boats and soon were taking off the passengers of the liner and picking up those already in small boats in the sea. The process of rescue and rescuers served to assure the passengers, although at that very time the Mafalda was sinking fast.

ARLINGTON COUNTY URGED TO INSIST ON TAXING BILLBOARDS

Issue Is Put Up to Electorate
Because of Supervisors'
Failure to Act.

ZONE COMMISSION WILL HEAR EXPERT

Need Is Felt for Advice in Its Work, Maj. Cushing
Declares.

ARLINGTON COUNTY
BUREAU OF THE POST,
Clarendon, Va.

Frank G. Campbell and Walter U. Varney, respectively, chairmen of the committees from the Arlington County Civic Federation and the Chamber of Commerce, following the failure of the Board of Supervisors to adopt the signboard ordinance, last night circulated the county, putting the fight up to the voters to put into office a board that will support such an ordinance.

"The representatives of the federation and Chamber of Commerce have done all that they can do, the rest is up to the people themselves," the circular says. "If they are satisfied with the situation, well and good. If not, they have a remedy at the polls on election day, Nov. 8."

The circular sets forth that the Board of Supervisors at its meeting, by a 2-to-1 vote, decided to table the proposed ordinance, but later agreed to publish it as coming up for future consideration. At the outset, W. I. Ingram, member of the board from Arlington District, urged its immediate passage.

"It is very apparent that there was no intention of passing the ordinance," the circular continues. "Thus it would seem that if the present board is continued, no relief from the present condition can be hoped for for four years, and by that time the conditions of the entrances to Arlington County will be beyond redemption."

The ordinance proposes an annual tax of 20 cents a square foot on advertising signboards erected in the county, exempting those erected by merchants and others who are engaged in business in the county.

Regarding this feature the circular states: "While the citizens of Arlington County are being taxed from every angle, even upon their watches and other real and personal belongings, the signboard companies, many of them foreign corporations, are plastering our highways with signboards, yielding very large returns and paying no revenue to the county."

"It is believed that it is unfair to the taxpayers of Arlington County that a great revenue-producing industry should be left free of taxation while the home owner is taxed, and that the present condition of the entrances into Arlington County is affecting the advance of the county and depressing property values here."

Charles W. Leavitt, of New York, expert city planner, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Arlington County Zoning Commission, at the courthouse tonight.

"Considerable work has been accomplished by the commission since its creation about two months ago, but the views of an expert along the lines of zoning is needed, according to Maj. E. W. Cushing.

"While all the members of the commission are willing to do the work laid out for them, they being employed during the day as they are, it is almost impossible to carry on the work of zoning the county in any reasonable time without the aid of an expert," declared Maj. Cushing.

The commission will at the next meeting of the board of supervisors recommend that a zoning expert be employed to assist in the work.

Final arrangements for the water carnival to be held November 3 in celebration of the turning on of water from the Dalecarlia reservoir will be made at a meeting of the committee to be held Friday night in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 o'clock.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will meet today at noon, in the Ashton Heights Women's clubhouse.

Candidates for the office of supervisor will speak at a meeting of the Glencliff Citizens Association, in the library building, tonight at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Carrie Lee, of Lynchburg, Va., grand matron of the Eastern Star of Virginia, will pay an official visit to the Mary Washington Chapter, O. E. S., Friday night in the Masonic Temple, Clarendon.

Amos C. Crouse, candidate for commonwealth's attorney, announces he will hold a mass meeting Saturday night in the auditorium of the Potomac Town Hall, when all candidates for commonwealth's attorney will speak. In addition, candidates for county clerk will speak.

The colored voters of Arlington County will hold a rally in Dade's Hall, Columbia Pike, tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Lyon Park Community Center will give its annual Halloween ball in the community house Friday night, Mrs. J. F. Hardie, Jr., is chairman in charge of the arrangements.

Today will be Northern Virginia Day at the Better Home Exhibit being conducted in the Washington Auditorium. There will be a musical program this afternoon and evening under the direction of Mrs. Sade Catherine Coles, of Cherrylee.

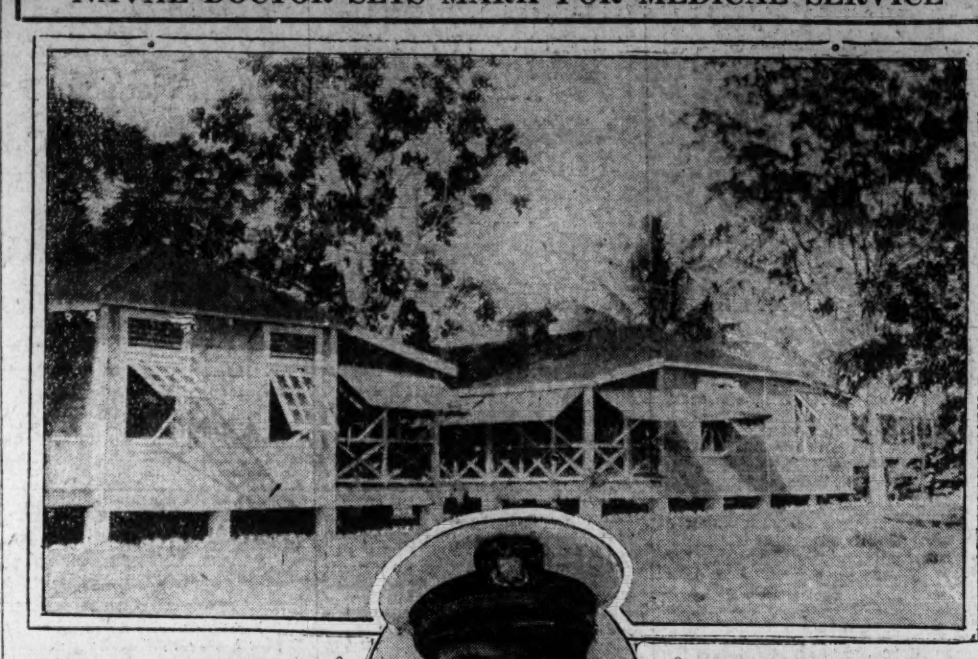

The board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce will meet today at 4:30 o'clock, in the board room, Rucker Building, Clarendon.

Firemen at Banquet
Interrupted by Alarm

The long drawn wall of a fire alarm last night interrupted the twenty-first anniversary celebration of the Cherrylee Volunteer Fire Department and forced Fire Chief Jack Spates and his team to adjourn from their annual banquet in Firemen's Hall to battle a blaze which threatened the home of R. L. Hanback at Cherry Valley and Garrison roads.

Inside of fifteen minutes the blaze was extinguished and the volunteers returned to round out their celebration. State Senator Frank L. Ball, who addressed the banquet, declared the incident "a fitting demonstration of the spirit of the Cherrylee volunteers." Departments from Ballston and Clarendon also fought the flames, which caused $500 damage to the Hanback home.

NAVAL DOCTOR SETS MARK FOR MEDICAL SERVICE

POLICE TO QUESTION GIRL IN DEATH OF SALESMAN

Norfolk Officers Seek Young Woman After Finding Body in Alley.

BALTIMOREAN BEING HELD

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—A woman whose identity is concealed at present may hold the key, police believe, to the mystery surrounding the death of Ben P. Myrick, young automobile accessory salesman, of Richmond, whose body was found last night in an alley in the rear of a local hotel.

Myrick was a native of Norfolk, traveling for a Richmond firm.

Ernest E. Oliphant, 618 East Thirty-fourth street, Baltimore, who is being held at police headquarters on a charge of murder, has told Sgt. J. O. H. Reeves, it was announced today, that he took a young woman home a short time before Myrick's body was found. James T. Wilson, of Marionville, Va., in whose room at the hotel Myrick's coat was found, is being held as a material witness.

Oliphant says Myrick had an appointment with him yesterday and arrived in Norfolk shortly after noon. They met in the hotel, he told police, and there was some drinking, officers said. Myrick later put to bed, Oliphant said, and he then left to take the young woman home. Oliphant says when he returned the body of Myrick was found.

Wilson, according to police, has joined Oliphant in expressing the opinion that Myrick's death must have been the result of an accident.

Two Policemen Held
On Extortion Charges

Ralph G. Blasey and Robert L. Smith, policemen attached to the First Precinct, who were suspended following charges that they accepted a bribe or extorted one, were held for the action of the grand jury yesterday in Police Court by Judge McMahon under $2,500 bond each on charges of extortion.

Both pleaded not guilty and waived a hearing.

They are alleged to have accused Claude Newson, colored, of 209 Virginia avenue southeast, of having violated the prohibition laws with a view to extorting $50 from him. Attorney Russell Kelly appeared for the accused.

Weighing 316 Pounds,
Girl Grows Heavier

Special to The Washington Post.
Luray, Va., Oct. 26.—Each month is adding weight to the 316 pounds of Miss Effie Cave, 16, known as "Page County's Heavyweight." Girl, Miss Cave is a student of one of the county schools, and for the last ten years has been gaining in weight at the rate of 23 pounds annually.

When she was 6 years old, her parents declare, she began to "grow fat." Her weight was then about 80 pounds. Physicians, consulted, pronounced it "healthful avoirdupois." Notwithstanding her abnormal weight, Miss Cave is as active as the average girl of her age and takes part in all school-time diversions. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Cave.

FINE GLOSS NEEDED FOR RARE PERFUMES

Expensive Bottles, Parisian
Manufacturers Say, Are Not Mere Luxury.

Paris, Oct. 26 (A.P.)—French makers of cosmetics are meeting the complaints against the high cost of powders and perfumes with several explanations.

Good crystal bottles are essential for the preservation of the most delicate perfumes, says Lucien Leiong, Parisian dresser and perfumier.

"Perfumes," he explains, "unlike the flowers from which they come, can not thrive in contact with air. They require the protection of fine glass, and they soon sicken and lose their strength if kept in cheap bottles of porous glass."

The uninitiate often accuse perfumers of adding too much cost to perfumes by expensive bottles, he says. But the bottle is made of the best materials for practical as well as esthetic reasons.

Ordinary face powder is sifted by machines, but the ultra-dee dusts that Parisian specialists put on the market at top prices is run through borshevik sieves and pressed two or three times through sheets of silk. This is the explanation one dealer gives of his costly powder, which, he claims, is perfected entirely by hand.

Children's Musical Season Is at Hand

New York, Oct. 26 (A.P.)—The musical season for children opens only a short time after that of the adult music-lovers here.

The first of the Symphony Concerts for Children is scheduled for October 29 at Carnegie Hall. This entire series of morning concerts, as well as the Symphony Concerts for Young People, will again be under the direction of Walter Damrosch.

KELLOGG DENIES BACKING NICARAGUAN CANDIDATES

Reiterates United States Will Not Influence Election of President.

TO MEET GEN. MONCADA

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Kellogg yesterday formally reiterated the declaration that the Washington Government did not intend to select any candidate for the presidency of Nicaragua or to influence the election next January in behalf of any person.

The statement was made in connection with the visit to Washington of Gen. Jose Moncada, formerly commander in chief of the Liberal forces in Nicaragua. It was said at the Department of State that Mr. Kellogg had expected to see Gen. Moncada in the course of his visit here, although no engagement had been made.

In any event, Mr. Kellogg's statement made it clear that the question of Moncada's eligibility for the Nicaraguan presidency had never been raised, so far as he knew, nor has the Washington Government any knowledge that Moncada is disqualified either under the Nicaraguan constitution or under the terms of the Central American treaty.

MITES FOR W. A. RODERICK

Military Burial in Arlington Cemetery

Military funeral services were held in Arlington National Cemetery yesterday for Walter A. Roderick, newspaperman and war veteran, who died Saturday in Baltimore. His body was laid to rest between the graves of his father and mother, while a firing squad fired three volleys and a trumpet sounded "taps."

The funeral service was read by Chaplain John T. Axton, Jr. Gathered at the graveside were Roderick's widow, relatives and friends, members of the Chicago Tribune bureau, headed by Arthur S. Henning, and representatives of the Baltimore Sun, headed by J. Fred Esary.

Two members of the American Legion acted as a guard of honor, Charles H. Knight, past commander of the Victory Post, and Edward T. Follard, of the Costello Post. The pallbearers were A. P. Pollard, R. V. Cooley, Kenneth Bovey, C. O. Patterson, William F. Franklin and M. F. McGrath.

BURIAL RITES TODAY FOR THOMAS BROWN

Former Manager of Washington Ball Team Dies After Long Illness.

Funeral services for Thomas T. Brown, veteran ball player and manager of the Washington Baseball Team in 1896, who died Tuesday morning following an illness of several months, will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in the Chambers funeral parlors, Fourteenth and Chapin streets northwest. The Rev. S. B. Dougherty will officiate.

Brown will be buried in the National League, April 30, 1897.

During the last four of five years Brown had been proprietor of a cigar store at 3524 M street northwest. He played on many of the league teams, including Boston, Pittsburgh and Louisville. He played with the Pittsburgh team, then known as the Alleghenies, when the team made its debut in the National League, April 30, 1897.

Later he came to the Washington team and acted as manager and center fielder. This was before it entered the American League in 1900. He was known for his fleetness of foot and his ability to steal bases. He is survived by two brothers in California; a son-in-law, O. W. Stratton, of this city, and two grandchildren, Elizabeth J. and O. W. Stratton, Jr.

MITES FOR MISS COSTIGAN.

Services at Sacred Heart Church for Washington School Teacher.

Miss Winifred May Costigan, 52 years old, for 30 years a teacher in the Washington public schools, died yesterday at the Georgetown University Hospital. Miss Costigan underwent a serious operation at the hospital ten weeks ago.

Born in Philadelphia, she came to this city 42 years ago, and was educated in the Washington public schools, being graduated from Central High School in 1894 and from Wilson Normal in 1897.

Prior to her illness she was eighth grade teacher at Seaton School. Miss Costigan is survived by her mother, Mrs. Winifred Bridget Costigan, with whom she made her home at 1428 Girard street northwest; a sister, Miss Katherine W. Costigan and four brothers, Thomas L., Laurence T., Edward and John P. Costigan. Funeral services will be at the Sacred Heart Church and burial in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

CHARGES AGAINST NATIONAL GUARD OFFICER FILED WITH Col. Oehmann.

Lieut. Col. Louis G. Brinton, Jr., newly appointed adjutant general of the District National Guard, yesterday filed charges against Capt. William F. Jorgenson, of the District National Guard, with Col. John W. Oehmann, his regimental commander.

"I have not the slightest idea what the charges could be," Capt. Jorgenson said last night. "I have been guilty of no disobedience that I know of."

Col. Oehmann had not gone over the specifications yesterday, but said he would study them and decide today whether to order a court-martial. Col. Brinton would not make a statement of the specifications pending Col. Oehmann's investigation.

SIDDONS IN TAXICAB
COLLIDING WITH MAN

Judge Sends Injured Pedestrian to Casualty Hospital.

Although normally apparently not lacking in usual calm when he entered his courtroom to preside over the Teapot Dome trial Tuesday morning, a few minutes before the judge's taxicab had been in collision with a man who had just stepped off the curb near Judiciary Square.

"Amid a screeching of brakes, Justice Suddons came to a stop, and the justice looked out to see Frank Clatterbuck, 28 years old, of 607 Sixth street northwest, lying on the pavement with blood streaming down his face. The taxicab was driven by George Reif, of 1828 L street northwest.

Justice Suddons helped Clatterbuck into the ambulance. He then asked him what he was about the Teapot Dome trial, and assuring himself that the latter's injuries were not serious, the judge then instructed his driver to take Clatterbuck to Casualty Hospital, where he was treated for slight cuts and bruises. Reif notified police of the crash, precinct.

Former Peggy Marsh
Opens a London Shop

(Special Cable Dispatch.)
London, Oct. 26.—Peggy Marsh, who used to obtain for her son, Henry Anthony Marsh, part of the Manhattan Field millions on the ground that he was the son of Henry Field, has opened a sport clothes shop in Leicester, street in London's West End. Peggy says she is "broke" and must make money.

Sometime after the suit, Peggy married Al Johnson, wealthy New Yorker, and after a divorce she married Capt. Fenwick, an Englishman. She is still Mrs. Fenwick and the captain is said to be associated with her in the new business.

MRS. HALSEY, FORMER COLLEGE DEAN, DIES

Long in Charge of Woman
Suffrage Headquarters
in Capital.

Mrs. Laura Hopkins Halsey, former dean of the Washington College of Law, and for many years identified with women's suffrage activities in the District, died yesterday at her home, 1336 Quincy street northwest.

A native of Evansville, Ind., Mrs. Halsey came to Washington about eighteen years ago to take a position in the Patent Office. In 1918, she assumed charge of the local office of the American Woman's Suffrage Association. In 1921 she was graduated with honors from the Washington College of Law and later received the graduate degrees of LL. M. and M. P. L. For four years following her graduation she was engaged in research in the interest of State legislation affecting women in industry. In February, 1925, she was elected dean of the Washington College of Law, where she served until ill health forced her resignation in June, 1926.

Mrs. Halsey was a member of the bar of the District and of the Supreme Court of the United States. She was a life member of the Women's City Club, and belonged to Alpha Chapter, Phi Delta Gamma Sorority. She is survived by her husband, Arthur S. Halsey. Funeral services will be at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the A. R. Spence funeral parlors. Burial will be in Evansville, Ind.

Commander of Sons Of Confederates Dies

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 26 (A.P.)—Charlie M. Brown, commander of the Army of Northern Virginia, Sons of Confederate Veterans and past commander of the North Carolina division of the same organization, died here today after an illness of about one year.

Mr. Brown was prominent in the real estate world here, having come to Asheville from Ocala and Miami, Fla., where he was prominent, both in business and social circles.

MISS MARY C. KNOWLES DIES

Funeral Services to Be Held Tomorrow at Home in Georgetown.

Funeral services for Miss Mary Cecilia Knowles, lifelong resident of Georgetown, who died yesterday at her home, 1407 Thirty-first street northwest, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the home. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

An invalid for several years, Miss Knowles had been seriously ill only about two weeks prior to her death. The Rev. F. Bland Tucker, rector of St. John's Church, will preside at the services, assisted by the Rev. E. F. Wroth, of Christ Church. Miss Knowles is survived by three sisters, Miss Anna A. Knowles, Mrs. S. R. Belt and Mrs. John P. Taylor.

Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL Race Track, Oct. 26.—Display, the game son of Fair Play, that races for Walter J. Salmon, furnished a thrill to the big crowd here today when he came from behind in the running of the Magoghy Purse to get up in the last stride and beat out the Harry Payne Whitney colt, Bostonian. Display was one of the field of seven that went to the post in the first five passed the winning mark in a close bunch.

It was a well-balanced lot and they furnished a lot of contention, all but Bostonian looking to have a chance of winning at some stage of the struggle. The finish was a thriller in which a close bunch.

Display was taken to the outside and, following one of his sensational bursts of speed, he moved down the pace-makers to get up just in time to snatch victory from Bostonian.

In the early stages Jock and No Regrets went to the front and set a fast pace.

Nearing the half mile post, Workman went Bostonian up and, entering the home stretch, he took command. When the final test came Bostonian hung a bit and it just failed to last.

Jock was third, beaten a length, and then followed Princess Doreen and No Regrets. These three were nose and heads apart. He was ridden and dropped out of the struggle the last furlong. The winner ran the mile and sixteenth in 1:44 4-5, the fractional time being 0:23 2-5, 0:47, 1:12 4-5, 1:38 1-5.

Jockey L. Cheyne was given the mount on J. E. Davis' good gelding, Endicott, following the race. He was ridden and dropped out of the struggle the last furlong. The winner ran the mile and sixteenth in 1:44 4-5, the fractional time being 0:23 2-5, 0:47, 1:12 4-5, 1:38 1-5.

Kangaroo was victorious on that occasion, and this afternoon he showed very little competition, his race being below the one recently won over practically the same contestants.

For the 5 1/2-furlong sprint that was offered as the second event of the afternoon a field of fifteen maidens gathered for a contest. The dash of the winner, J. E. Davis' b. g. (3), broke out of the maiden ranks when he accounted for the issue in a drive to the win. The winner ran the mile and sixteenth in 1:44 4-5, the fractional time being 0:23 2-5, 0:47, 1:12 4-5, 1:38 1-5.
